Description :

Prsentation de l'diteurChosen by Audible.com as the best sci-fi novel of 2012!Padlocked doors. Strange light fixtures. Mutant cockroaches.There are some odd things about Nates new apartment. Of course, he has other things on his mind. He hates his job. He has no money in the bank. No girlfriend. No plans for the future. So while his new home isnt perfect, its livable. The rent is low, the property managers are friendly, and the odd little mysteries dont nag at him too much. At least, not until he meets Mandy, his neighbor across the hall, and notices something unusual about her apartment. And Xelas apartment. And Tims. And Veeks. Because every room in this old Los Angeles brownstone has a mystery or two. Mysteries that stretch back over a hundred years. Some of them are in plain sight. Some are behind locked doors. And all together these mysteries could mean the end of Nate and his friends. Or the end of everything..."A riveting apocalyptic mystery in the style of LOST."--Craig DiLouie, author of THE INFECTION and THE KILLING FLOOR"A wholly original story that weaves together mystery and the apocalypse like a finely tuned band."--Evan Roy, Bricks of the DeadPrsentation de l'diteurChosen by Audible.com as the best sci-fi novel of 2012!Padlocked doors. He made his first writing sale at age seventeen to a local newspaper, and at the age of nineteen he completed his quadruple-PhD studies in English literature, archaeology, quantum physics, and interpretive dance. In 2008, while surfing Hawaii's Keauwaula Beach, he thought up a viable way to maintain cold fusion that would also solve world hunger, but forgot all about it when he ran into actress Yvonne Strahvorski back on the beach and she offered to buy him a drink. He was the inspiration for both the epic poem "Beowulf" and the motion picture -Raiders of the Lost Ark-, and is single-handedly responsible for repelling the Martian Invasion of 1938 that occurred in Grovers Mills, New Jersey. Eleven sonnets he wrote to impress a girl in high school were all later found and attributed to Shakespeare. He is the author of numerous short stories, EX-HEROES, EX-PATRIOTS, --14--, THE EERIE ADVENTURES OF THE LYCANTHROPE ROBINSON CRUSOE, and an as-yet-undiscovered Dead Sea Scroll. There is compelling evidence that he is, in fact, the Lindbergh baby.
