

(Download pdf) File size: 56.Mb

Even More Ketchup than Salsa: The Final Dollop (English Edition)

Par Joe Cawley
ePub | *DOC | audiobook | ebooks |
Download PDF

Dtails sur le produit Rang parmi les ventes : #200606 dans eBooksPubli le: 2013-11-05Sorti le: 2013-11-05Format: Ebook Kindle

(Download pdf) Even More Ketchup than Salsa: The Final Dollop (English Edition)

Par Joe Cawley : Even More Ketchup than Salsa: The Final Dollop (English Edition) before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Even More Ketchup than Salsa: The Final Dollop (English Edition):

Download

Read Online

Description :

Prsentation de l'diteurA must-read reality check for anybody who has ever pondered making a new life abroad"Pure enjoyment!" "Another corker from Mr Cawley!" "Couldn't put it down. Made me happy, made me sad, made me happy some more. Really, really good book. Can't wait for the next installment!" "Funny, emotional and identifiable, loved every minute..." "The first six months of running the Smugglers Tavern had been a baptism of fire. The subsequent years were about as much fun as bobbing for apples in a vat of acid. Having swapped the tin roof of a cold British fish market for the sunny skies of Tenerife, one of Spain's holiday islands, Joe and Joy succeeded in thwarting the first wave of attacks from bungling bureaucrats, bewildered holidaymakers and their own spectacular ineptitude. What they didn't realise was that their enemies were regrouping. Not only that, but those enemies had made camp a lot closer to home, enemies that would make their encounters with exploding gas bottles, East European squatters and big-time Charlies seem like chapters from a children's picture book. Dreams are shattered, relationships left in tatters and sanity is tested in this prize-winning travel and humour memoir in this revelation about what it's really like when you try to make a better life for yourself overseas. Recent reviews "Beautifully observed, laugh-out-loud funny in parts and heartbreakingly emotional in others. If you've ever lived abroad, particularly in Spain, this book has something in it for you." "Hilarious all the way through and tinged with the slightest of sadness in parts." "The humour reminds me a lot of Deric Longden's equally poignant books and plays, especially the bits about Joe's gran and Buster the cat. Would make a great film." "Loved this book! Laughed and cried... Honest and compelling read." "Presentation de l'auteur A must-read reality check for anybody who has ever pondered making a new life abroad" "Pure enjoyment!" "Another corker from Mr Cawley" "Couldn't put it down. Made me happy, made me sad, made me happy some more. Really, really good book. Can't wait for the next installment!" "Funny, emotional and identifiable, loved every minute..." "The first six months of running the Smugglers Tavern had been a baptism of fire. The subsequent years were about as much fun as bobbing for apples in a vat of acid. Having swapped the tin roof of a cold British fish market for the sunny skies of Tenerife, one of Spain's holiday islands, Joe and Joy succeeded in thwarting the first wave of attacks from bungling bureaucrats, bewildered holidaymakers and their own spectacular ineptitude. What they didn't realise was that their enemies were regrouping. Not only that, but those enemies had made camp a lot closer to home, enemies that would make their encounters with exploding gas bottles, East European squatters and big-time Charlies seem like chapters from a children's picture book. Dreams are shattered, relationships left in tatters and sanity is tested in this prize-winning travel and humour memoir in this revelation about what it's really like when you try to make a better life for yourself overseas. Recent reviews "Beautifully observed, laugh-out-loud funny in parts and heartbreakingly emotional in others. If you've ever lived abroad, particularly in Spain, this book has something in it for you." "Hilarious all the way through and tinged with the slightest of sadness in parts." "The humour reminds me a lot of Deric Longden's equally poignant books and plays, especially the bits about Joe's gran and Buster the cat. Would make a great film." "Loved this book! Laughed and cried... Honest and compelling read." "Biographie de l'auteur Joe Cawley is an award-winning author and travel writer published in many international newspapers and magazines. His first book, More Ketchup than Salsa, was voted 'Best Travel Narrative 2007' by the British Guild of Travel Writers. Joe lives in the hills of Tenerife, one of Spain's Canary Islands, with his family and an assortment of other wildlife.