

(Download) File size: 45.Mb

Trespassers on the Roof of the World: The Race for Lhasa (English Edition)

Par Peter Hopkirk

*DOC | *audiobook | ebooks | Download
PDF | ePub*

Dtails sur le produit Rang parmi les ventes : #55224 dans eBooksPubli le: 2012-03-15Sorti le: 2012-03-15Format: Ebook Kindle

(Download) Trespassers on the Roof of the World: The Race for Lhasa (English Edition)

Par Peter Hopkirk : Trespassers on the Roof of the World: The Race for Lhasa (English Edition) before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Trespassers on the Roof of the World: The Race for Lhasa (English Edition):

Download

Read Online

Description :

Prsentation de l'diteurNo other land has captured man's imagination quite like Tibet. Hidden away behind the highest mountains on earth, and ruled over by a mysterious God-king, it was for centuries a land forbidden to all outsiders. In this remarkable and ultimately tragic narrative, Peter Hopkirk recounts the forcible opening up of this medieval Buddhist kingdom by inquisitive Western travellers during the nineteenth and twentieth centuries, and the race to reach Lhasa, Tibet's sacred capital. This epic, often harrowing tale, which ends with the Chinese invasion of 1950, draws on a colourful cast of gatecrashers from nine different countries. Among them were adventurous young officers on Great Game missions, explorers and mountaineers, mystics and missionaries. All took their lives in their hands, including three intrepid women. Some were never to return. Revue de presse 'A marvellous book, well researched and beautifully written - a treat for armchair explorers everywhere' (New Statesman) 'As vivid and gripping as a John Buchan novel' (Evening Standard) Presentation de l'auteur No other land has captured man's imagination quite like Tibet. Hidden away behind the highest mountains on earth, and ruled over by a mysterious God-king, it was for centuries a land forbidden to all outsiders. In this remarkable and ultimately tragic narrative, Peter Hopkirk recounts the forcible opening up of this medieval Buddhist kingdom by inquisitive Western travellers during the nineteenth and twentieth centuries, and the race to reach Lhasa, Tibet's sacred capital. This epic, often harrowing tale, which ends with the Chinese invasion of 1950, draws on a colourful cast of gatecrashers from nine different countries. Among them were adventurous young officers on Great Game missions, explorers and mountaineers, mystics and missionaries. All took their lives in their hands, including three intrepid women. Some were never to return.